

We are hosting the 5th annual event for Pulmonary Fibrosis on November 18, 2017 at Burke Lake Park in Fairfax, VA.

Our event is to promote disease awareness and support research efforts leading to a cure for Pulmonary Fibrosis (PF). PF affects up to 200,000 Americans and is a condition in which the lung tissue becomes thickened, stiff, and scarred and the brain and other organs don't get the oxygen they need. When there is no known cause for the fibrosis the disease is called Idiopathic Pulmonary Fibrosis or IPF. The most common symptoms of PF are cough and shortness of breath. There is no known cure and survival is only 3-5 years. Pulmonary Fibrosis claims 40,000 lives each year.

The event is being held in honor of Mradula Kalathia (Molly K), who passed away from IPF in 2006. Molly never smoked a day in her life and the cause of her IPF was never identified. The only initial symptom Molly had was a cough and she died within three years of diagnosis. Since Molly's passing, we have been working with the PF community and organizations to advocate and help raise awareness of this disease and support research efforts leading to a cure.

Funds raised through MollyK will benefit the Pulmonary Fibrosis Foundation. PFF is a 501(c)(3) nonprofit organization dedicated to identifying effective PF treatments and assisting those living with the disease.

Please review the enclosed Sponsor Opportunities and Sponsor Form. To ensure we list you on our event publicity, we look forward to hearing from you by October 31, 2017.

Thank you very much for your support and sponsorship to help raise awareness and fund research.

Sincerely,

Molly K Family
